DATA PROTECTION:

Although not required by law to register under the Data Protection Act (1998), WATCH is covered by the requirements of the Act and implements it accordingly. All personal data provided by members is held on a central database which is used to contact members about the activities of WATCH. This data is passed to Officers of WATCH as required by them to carry out their duties on behalf of WATCH and to Diocesan Branches and Contacts to enable them to keep in touch with members in their area. The data is only passed on to a third party where such a party has been contracted by WATCH to carry out actions on behalf of WATCH, for example mailings of Outlook, and has stated in writing that data received from WATCH will not be used for any other purpose. Data is never passed on to a third party in any other circumstances. If you have any queries about data protection, please contact the WATCH office.
